Now before we get going with the game, here are the rules.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• To keep things fair, no electronic devices may be out during the round. And that's not just when you're with your team at your table. If you have to step away from your table for any reason, please return with only your charming personality, and NOT with answers that you looked up while you were away. Because there are prizes at stake, if it looks like cheating, we have to treat it like cheating.<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Don't shout out the answers; you might accidentally give answers away to other teams. Use those handy dandy notepads to share ideas with your team instead.<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Spelling doesn't count unless we say it does.</li></ul></li></ul></li><li>• Unless we say otherwise, when we ask for someone's name, we want their last name. Give us the first name, too, if you like, but just remember that if any part of your answer is wrong, the whole thing is wrong. It's always safest to just give us last names.<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• For fictional characters, either the first or last name is okay unless we say otherwise.</li><li>• Our answer is the correct answer. Dispute if you like and we'll consider it, but our decisions are final.</li></ul></li><li>• Finally, be generous to the staff; they're working hard to ensure you have a great time. Don't be afraid to ask them for answers to our questions; they may know some that you don't.</li></ul>
